

A New Day

Out of the darkness without any test, a heavy burden was laid on our chest.....

Where this disease came from, no one is sure; all we know is that there is no cure.....

Young and old are dying all around, look at the people in your own town. We cry for help in so many ways, but more lives are lost in every ways.....

There are drugs to ease the pain; the industry also gets the capital gain, but whatever you are left with that all goes in vain.....

Our body is like a bomb, could go off any day, hoping a cure would be found some way.....

It is something that we can no longer ignore, because it is coming near and nearer, it might enter in you to put you in cry and fear.....

How many cries would it take to hear? When someone near and dear you know has pain, and their time is near to get in the life of fear and tear.....

So don't think that you can't get this disease called AIDS, Many of them think they have it, but just won't say it.....

Wake up! We are dying and dropping like flies, don't wait until the human race dies, and then ask WHY... why.....why

Just cheer and come out the fear, Now and is approaching in our fate; to take us to the new gate, where we have life full of joy and

A NEW DAY

“Though the path would be tough, but the destination is the Horizon of life”